Good morning [redacted]

I am after some assistance for a serial complainant to the NSW Police Force, Law Enforcement Commission and the Ministers Office.

Name: Anthony (Tony) Smith
[redacted]

Country of birth and martial status are unknown.

He has been charged for various DV offences and on the 10th of June his latest matter was dismissed at court as the victim did not show up. He has a lengthy history of complaining to anyone on one weekend alone sent our command over 11 emails. He has emailed LECC who have told him he will soon be blocked from their server so too has the ministers office.

These complaints are seem to be targeted at the victim in his various DV offences and he complains nothing is being done to arrest the victim and that Smith himself is the victim and not the offender.

In terms of his mental health he last presented to St Vincents Hospital in Darlinghurst in 2021, but a few months ago, he made some self harm threats via triple zero about jumping in front of a train. Since that time he has continued to complain about his court matter and using the complaint process to inform any government agency as to his innocence rather than presenting this evidence at court, as he has been informed. In the event his mental health potentially declines I am seeking some assistance from mental health team to contact, assess Mr Smith and determine the viability of any necessary follow up.

If you require any information please contact via email

Thank you
